ALWAYS DREAMING

In terms of horse racing immortality, perhaps the coolest thing about the Triple Crown and the moment the Derby winner is made clear is that the field of potential Triple Crown candidates goes from 20 to 1 in a matter of 2 minutes. It makes the "pivotable" Preakness held in one of racing's special historic venues an incredible moment on the annual sports calendar. Best of luck to this year's flag bearer, Always Dreaming.

Expert clearly like the roll of spoiler in the form of Classic Empire. Recent history suggests that Derby starters dominate in the Preakness. As for the rest of the stakes, I see plenty of opportunities to beat the favorites with value horses on both slates. Good luck to the five contest winners, Justin Metacarpa, Morris Murray, Danny Ourso, Suzanne Bystrak and Joseph Fields, all winners in theracingbiz.com contests over the last two weeks, earning $100 Win wagers on the Preakness.

2nd in the Kentucky Derby.
